Disability, Theology & the Church

23 August 2017

A warm and engaging speaker, Amos Yong is an international expert in theologies of disability. The author of The Bible, Disability, and the Church: A New Vision of the People of God (Eerdmans, 2011) and Theology and Down Syndrome: Reimagining Disability in Late Modernity (Baylor University Press, 2007), Yong will introduce the key themes informing the contemporary discussion.

Local respondents will follow his lecture and then the floor will be opened to general discussion. How we think and act theologically in the area of disability goes far in bearing witness to the type of church we are and the God we serve, so please join us for this important event.

Speaker:

Amos Yong,
Director of The Center for Missiological Research and
Professor of Theology and Mission at Fuller Theological Seminary
