

Horizons of Contextuality Symposium

The Horizons of Contextuality Symposium is organised around two key questions:
What is Australian about theologies constructed in/from Australia?

What might theologies look like in the future, in/from Australia?

Theologians and biblical critics from different (but not all) parts of Australia will come together for conversations around those questions, with special attention to the subjects of First peoples, Second peoples, Home, Climate change, Disability, World religions, World Christianity, Christology, Biblical studies, Femininity/ism, Masculinity/ism, Tradition/ism, Caste/ism, Multicultural/ism, and Eco-feminism.

The conversations will identify traditional/different/alternative paths for theological trekking, in/from Australia.

Participants at the conversations include Ken Sumner, Chris Budden, Tracy Spencer, Seforosa Carroll, Sathianathan Clarke, Clive Pearson, Ji Zhang, Mark Brett, Anita Monro, Rod Pattenden, Stephen Burns, Monica Melanchthon, John Flett, Emmanuel Nathan, Anne Elvey, Elaine Wainwright.

The conversations are open to the public (byo lunch or purchase at café on-site).
